Maiden's Express—Mr. Bunnell—The Brady Musical—The Hibernians—Receptions and Whist—Mr. Falken.

Mr. Maiden, of the express which bears his name, started yesterday that there is no truth in the rumor which was circulated in town a few days ago, to the effect that a society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals had brought charges against him by reason of neglect to his horses. He says he feeds his horses all they will eat, that he has been attending to business every day, and that he is kind to his animals. Some time ago he lost a horse, but that happens to any one. The Farmer is glad to make the correction, and believes that Mr. Maiden is not cruel to animals, and honestly mends his own business.

The Misses Lucinda and Grace Wakelee gave a skating party last evening at the Park City rink.

Rev. John B. Adams, Presiding Elder for his district, delivered a striking sermon at the Methodist church Sunday evening before a crowded house. His theme was the cleansing of the leper.

Rev. Mr. Abbott of this place, who is so fond of taking long walks, was in 1871 a member of the Legislature at Hartford from Woodbury. He is said to be 84 years of age.

The passing away of Mr. Bunnell was quite sudden. On Saturday last it was reported that there had been no change and he was about the same. It is known that he had been gradually failing for a long time. He did not improve by his stay in Italy last winter, and when he returned to town, looked thin and feeble. He complained of being cold almost all the time he was away. Last fall he is said to have submitted to an operation; and subsequently he caught a fall in his own house, each of these events proving to be unfortunate. He was a veteran of the Civil War, and a couple of years ago at a meeting of the Men's Club he read a very interesting paper on his experiences in Louisiana under Gen. Banks. As a young man he was engaged in his profession in North Carolina, at the time of the war, but as he edited with the Union he concluded it was best to come North. He was of a very gentle, retiring disposition, but was much thought of by all who knew him. There are people in town who can remember when his father ran a woolen mill in North Bridgeport, at a place known as Bunnell's pond. Mr. Bunnell, as is well known, was an architect of rare ability, and many of the largest plants in Bridgeport have been built from his designs.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Hughes are moving over the birth of a daughter.

Flags flew in all directions yesterday in honor of the day and the return of the fleet.

There is said to be a great deal of pneumonia in town. Mrs. George K. Wilson has been confined to the bed since last Wednesday with both pneumonia and pleurisy; John McGinley, a young man who lives at the South End, is reported very ill with pneumonia; Thomas Hammond of Stratford avenue, is ill with pneumonia; and there are other cases.

Miss Viola Garlick, of New York, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Meachen.

Mr. Underhagen, of Elm street, is entertaining a friend from New Jersey.

Miss Edith Allen and Miss Ethel Lowndes have been spending the last three days in New York.

William Bradley's musical of a few evenings since was largely attended and a very attractive program was rendered. Among those present were the Costello brothers, William Appleby, Charles Johnson, John Woods, Lewis Collins of Hartford, the Misses Mayben, Winton and Mead of New Haven, William Hughes, and others.

Charles Johnson gave recitations and songs; Mr. Appleby played the mandolin and sang "Roses"; Mr. Collins sang two or three times and played the piano; Mr. Costello gave an Irish recitation and selection on the guitar; Mr. Bradley played the piano; the young ladies sang and recited, and after a delightful evening a bountiful supper was served.

The household gods of Mr. and Mrs. Milliken were being taken to Bridgeport yesterday, to be stored while their owners are in Chili, South America. Before sailing Mrs. Milliken will visit her father and mother for a week or so in Maine.

Frank Snell is recovering from a severe illness.

It is noticed about town that the sparrows have already begun to build their nests. And a few blue birds which have grown tired of loafing in a Southern climate have come North to brace up.

For the past week the sheriff has been attending court in Bridgeport.

Those who are interested in magic, music and telephony will go to the Sunday school room of the Methodist church this evening.

Saturday week Father O'Connor preached to the members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, and he hopes to make them a great society. They will prove to be a valuable adjunct to the work of St. James' church, and will doubtless assist in swelling the contributions to the building fund. For the benefit of his French Catholics, a French priest preached at St. James' last Sunday. Father O'Connor is alive to the situation on all points and is doing his best to foster the growth of his parish.

Fabrics of Cotton and Silk for Spring and Summer

The weaving of cotton and silk mixtures for dress goods has grown to be an art. Likewise is the coloring of them a clever trick of the dyemaster. There are lovely fabrics that cause the most indifferent shopper to exclaim with pleasure, and the possibilities of them for gowns are limitless. Here are just a few of them and the sections for Fancy Cottons are crowded.

Silk Mousselines, with self-colored shot figures. There is a preponderance of silk in these and the lustre is marked. A long list of colors is shown including such odd shades as peach, mulberry, and claret.

Cotton Foulards, very fine and lustrous, with self-colored stripes and white dots. Brown, lotos blue, black, and shades for general street wear.

Directoire Mousselines, beautiful styles in white grounds with broad satin stripes, and scattered bouquets of violets, lilacs, roses and forget-me-nots.

Crepe Stripes, in delicate pinks, blues, and grays, with maize, amethyst, and darker shades for street wear.

Spangled Mousseline, in pastel shades and white, with clusters of golden dots. These will make the daintiest of dinner and ball gowns.

Bordered Mousselines, forty-five inches wide with side borders.

Wash Goods Section, lower floor.

Trapahu Coffee. Demonstration in the House Furnishing Store Wednesday afternoon. Stop and get a cup, hot and delicious.
